A stochastic process is called stationary if it has the same distributions for all t. Prove that brownian motion has stationary increments $\forall t$:

$$B_{t+h} - B_t \sim N(0, t+h-t) = N(0, h) \quad \forall t \quad \text{🖎}$$